

DAILY Actor

'The (curious case of the) Watson Intelligence' by Madeleine George

WATSON: Well obviously I can't take this. I mean, I didn't do it for the money anyway, I did it because you seemed like you needed a hand, and to be honest I needed a break from my high-pressure job, and even though I'm guessing you're pretty pissed right now, in the end I think you'll see this was the most helpful thing I could do. Because-- (deep earnest) Moving on is so hard sometimes--I mean, I get it, I've been there. It's such a—(he gestures: fist to his heart), you know? And in those moments, when you're in the middle of doing something really crazy and humiliating, what you need more than anything else is a reality check, someone who can reflect you back to yourself, so you can be like, hey, is this really what I want to be doing? Is this really the guy I want to be? (beat) So that's what I decided to do for you, in the end. I don't think this is the guy you want to be.